

BayPHL 1 Logistics

Timing

Game Control (GC) will run until at least 5:30 PM. Dig Sites will close on a rolling basis, with Dig Site GAMMA running until 2:30 PM.

Route

After checking out from the starting location at Dig Site ALPHA, proceed to Dig Site BETA at the Marina Green and then Dig Site GAMMA at the Palace of the Fine Arts. We recommend grabbing a to-go lunch on Chestnut Street on your way to GAMMA. Once you've solved the mystery at GAMMA, you will receive further instructions on how to proceed.

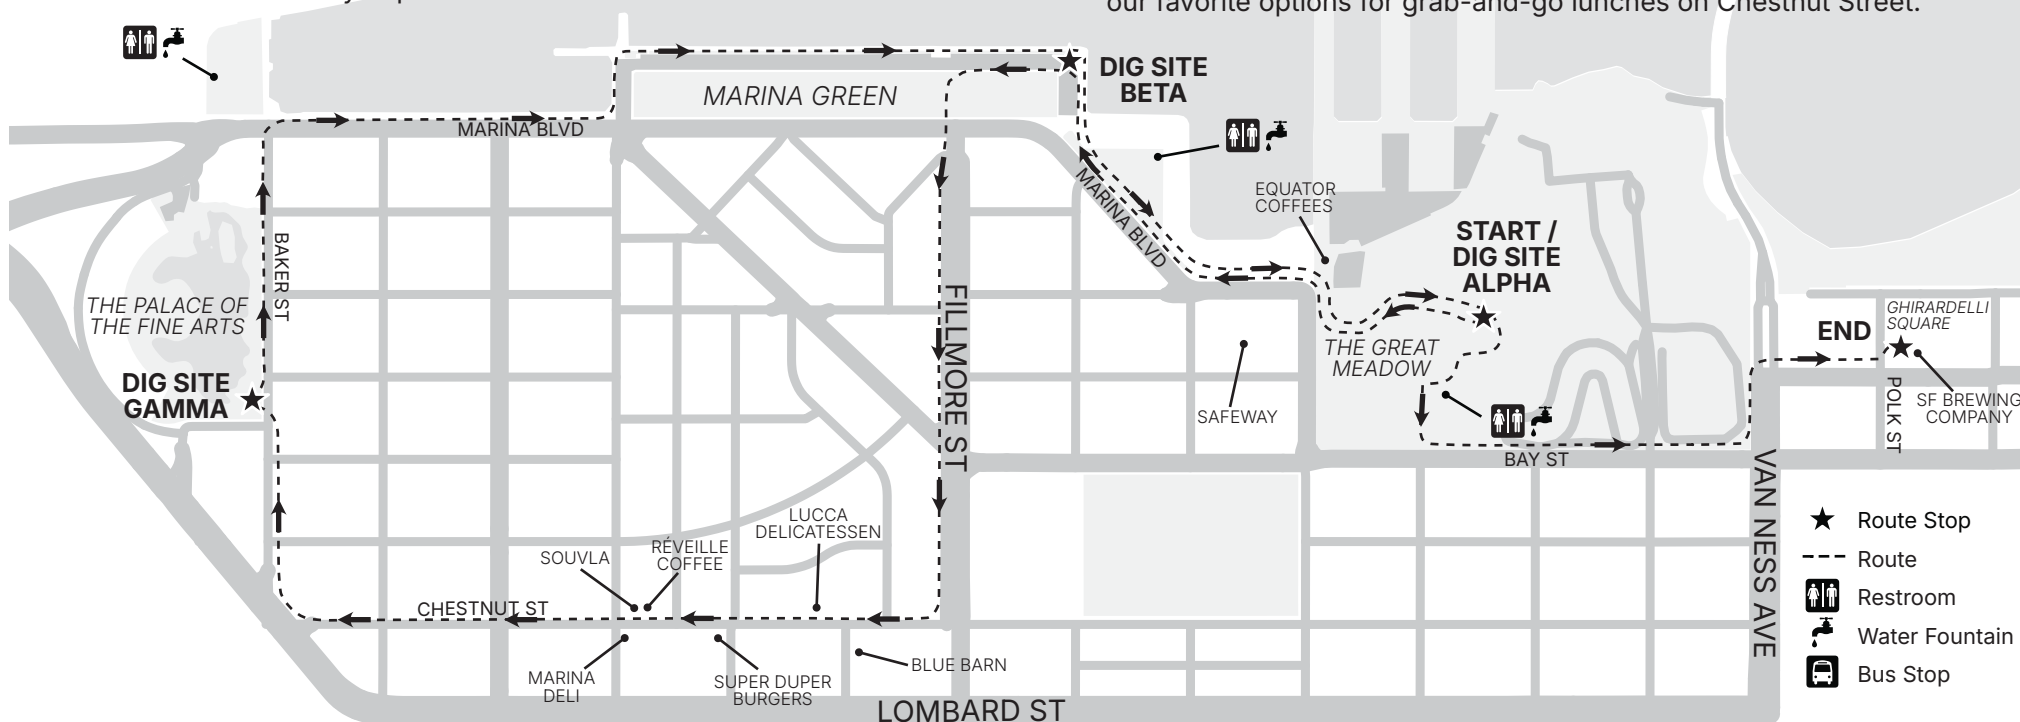

Most minor wonders require additional information that may only be available at the Dig Sites. One minor wonder requires finding information on the path between Dig Sites ALPHA and BETA, so we recommend following our path between ALPHA and BETA, but otherwise feel free to take whichever route you prefer. Each minor wonder indicates where to find the information you need, so make sure to collect the requisite information before moving on.

We recommend moving on from dig sites ALPHA and BETA if you have been there more than an hour or have solved 2 or more major wonders at that site, even if you have not yet solved all of the puzzles.

Notes

- Please make sure to check in and out at each Dig Site. Checking out will provide you with information you may need to solve the mystery. If you need to leave before finishing and are not able to check out, please text Evan at 615-364-4032.
- In case of emergency, dial 911. For smaller issues—getting lost, puzzle questions, etc.—visit GC at any Dig Site or call or text 615-364-4032.
- Remember to stay hydrated! If you need food, water, or restrooms, we've marked out a few convenient stops along the route, including our favorite options for grab-and-go lunches on Chestnut Street.

An A-B-C Inning

The Green Monster at Fenway Park has inspired many imitators.

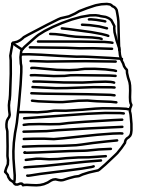

This is a location puzzle. You may not be able to solve this if you move on to another location without capturing the relevant information first. You can check how the game is going near Dig Site ALPHA. (Sorry, Giants fans)

Language Arts

The Rosetta Stone was an extremely valuable work in helping us connect ancient languages. There's a rainbow of colors on the surface, but as you dig deeper, you'll need to Remember Your Basics.

This is a physical puzzle. Grab a seat around the campfire near Dig Site ALPHA. Take a minute to enjoy yourself. Isn't it a nice day out? Enjoy the view of the famous bridge — Boston doesn't have one of those. Then pick your favorite stone, but please take only one. It is the entire puzzle and can be solved anywhere.

Bartering

The Agora of Smyrna's underground archways were home to many traders. They quickly realized that simple trades, say a cow for a sheep, weren't going to keep up with an increasingly complex economy.

The Lost Books

The Library of Alexandria was thought to have between 40,000 and 400,000 texts. Unimaginable knowledge was lost in its destruction, although some survived — including this collection. The artwork and titles have eroded so much over time that only one small bit of each is still the same.

Supply Chains

While the Alameda-Weehawken Burrito Tunnel is celebrated for giving our east coast brethren access to the best San Francisco has to offer, a large-scale piece of art nearby celebrates more traditional sources of food. Trace where these foods come from, and you might discover what powers the global delivery network.

This is a location puzzle. You may not be able to solve it without identifying the appropriate location. You can find what you need near Dig Site ALPHA, on the way to Dig Site BETA. Note that the location is in an active parking lot; please be mindful of traffic.
